

2008, he has lived in a vegetative state.

It's 17 years since the postman, with no involvement in crime, was gunned down by a thug for hire because he tried to stop a fight from happening.

He was blasted as he sat at home with his daughters, both of whom speak to us today. One child, Katie, is 17 now.

It means she never knew her dad before he was left in a state of "living death".

She is still receiving therapy to cope with what she has lost.

Her sister Megan was six when Daniel Gaynor shot her father, and she remembers it.

She's lived with what she saw as well as what she has

Tragic . . . Rob with little Megan

Victim's family are left